Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 34-45 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 34-65 of copending Application No. 10/617672. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of both applications claim essentially the same method. In a method of constructing a new building applying a film to a structure of said building would necessarily involve application of film to the wall. Please note that claim 62 of SN 10/617672 specifically refers to a printed pattern.

3. Claims 34-45 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 34-64 of copending

Application No. SN 10/617670. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant invention lacks only the carrier material. However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to omit carrier material in the claim 34 of the instant invention, since it has been held that omission of an element and its function in a combination where the remaining elements perform the same functions as before involves only routine skill in the art.

4. Claims 34-45 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 34-64 and claims 63-89 of copending Application No. SN 10/617671 and SN 10/617673 respectively. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant invention and copending applications claim essentially the same invention. Copending applications clearly refer to the printed matter in the dependent claims. All methods include a step of applying a film to the part of the building..

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

The prior art references cited by the examiner in PTO form 892 are considered as a background prior art.
